

OPERATIONAL STRATEGY CONSULTANT

Headlink Partners, a subsidiary of Beijaflore Group, advises the top management teams of major businesses on implementing their strategic programmes, with the aim of bringing them measurable and lasting benefits to their organisation and profit and loss account.

Recognized for its standards of excellence and its understanding of client issues, our firm is in a continuous growth since its creation in 2000 with more than 70 consultants.

To accompany our development, we are looking for junior and experienced operational strategy consultants.

Joining the Finance & Insurance or Services & Industry practices, you will work in business strategy and transformation, steering complex programmes, risk management, product innovation and development, supply chain, information governance...

You will broaden your expertise on high added-value missions and build your career through diverse and sustained resources.

You will join a human-scale team motivated by the desire to deliver measurable results to customers, with a keen business sense and the desire to share expertise between consultants.

Your profile

You are a graduate of a business or engineering school with initial consulting experience and have already used your expertise in finance/insurance and industry/services missions. You speak fluent English, have excellent analysis and synthesising skills, good customer relations, showing initiative and a questioning spirit.

More information on www.headlink-partners.com